Truckee Wins In First Game Here From G. V. Nine

Giovannoni Paces Team, Gets Four Hits In Five Trips

The Truckee Mountaineers encountered little trouble in defeating the Grass Valley Braves of the Placer-Nevada League in their first home game of the series here Monday afternoon. The score was Truckee 15, Grass Valley 9. Sunday Truckee lost to Auburn 6 to 3.

Frank Giovannoni found his stride in Monday's game and beside doing an excellent job at third base, clipped off four hits in five trips to bat, one of these a homer in the seventh with two men on base, which sewed up the game for the locals. Frank also picked himself a double in the first inning with two on, while a single in the second brought in another couple of runs.

All in all the Truckee boys apparently have found their faults and with the return of Eddie Ulsheimer for the game at Lincoln on the 12th, the team will be in top form.

There were too many errors Monday with Grass Valley scoring five, all costly, and Truckee booting six times.

Grass Valley scored twice in the first innning but Truckee came right back with five runs. In the second frame, the visitors pounded out five of their eleven hits to score four times, and the home towners, with two hits, scored three times to maintain the lead. Grass Valley tied the score in the fifth with a couple of runs but Truckee came right back in the same inning to surge ahead with two tallies. In the seventh, Giovannoni's homer settled the game and a single run by the visitors in the ninth was not a worry.

LaTona had fine field support for the most part and fanned only five batters, allowed 11 hits, hit one batter and walked one. The local chucker did collect two hits in his five trips up.

Martin, local shortstop, hit two for three, one of them a three-base hit in the fifth. Baxter, Knezovich, Boucher and Curran each got a single.

Despite the cold weather a goodly crowd of fans turned out to witness the opening game here.

Another shift or two will be made by Manager Baxter for next Sunday's game when the Truckee bunch invade Nevada City. The next home game on June 19th will see Folsom here.

Anticipating Season Costs Anglers $15 Each

A man and a woman drew $15 fines each for jumping the gun on the opening of stream trout fishing in this area. George A. Spargue of Novato and Jocelyn Weatherly of Norwalk were accused of fishing in Donner Creek on May 23, a week before the season was open. They were fined by R. N. Little, local justice of the peace, Tuesday.

Members of the Tahoe Truckee Unified School District board met informally with local contractors this week to inspect the two sites for the proposed new high school plant. The locations under question are on Highway 40 a mile and a half west of Truckee near the Tahoe Wye and a spot a mile and a half south of Truckee on the Brockway cutoff.

All members of the chamber are urged to attend the meetings.

Travel Sets New Record In This Area On Holiday

Border Station Tallies Over 5800 Autos On Past Weekend

What is believed to be an all-time travel record through Truckee was established during the past weekend, when 5829 automobiles were checked going west through the quarantine station.

W. C. Gage, in charge of the station, said that this figure compares with 5700 for the three day holiday period over July 4th last year and 5587 for the three-day Labor Day holiday in 1948

The count by days was reported as follows:

	Calif. Cars	Out of State	Total
May 28th	850	517	1367
May 29th	1627	444	2071
May 30th	2020	371	2391

The above figures do not include commercial vehicles or buses, Gage said.

CITY EXPERT HAS ANSWER TO LACK OF LAKE SALMON

A very excellent reason why there is such poor kokanee fishing in Donner Lake this year as compared to the past two seasons is advanced in a column by Tod Powell, the San Francisco Chronicle's "Woodsman."

So many inquiries had been received by Slim Ellert of the Truckee Sport Shop about the apparent lack of the land-locked salmon in Donner that he wrote Powell to see if that expert could shed some light on the situation.

In the column, Powell wrote in part:

"It should be known that the kokanee is a land-locked salmon, and, as do other tribes of Pacific salmon, die after having spawned. If there is no spawning area in or tributary to Donner Lake, reproduction will not take place, and if the fishing is to continue, it will be necessary to make regular plants, as the fish will die at about 4 years of age."

The state fish and game commission has given the go ahead signal for planting kokanee in Lake Tahoe as well as Donner and at a recent meeting the commission approved importation of 750,000 kokanee eggs annually for the next four years from Idaho. The fish will be raised at Tahoe and at the State of Nevada hatchery near Verdi.

Wyethia Club History Program Background

The history of the Women's Wyethia Club will be portrayed by past presidents of the organization at the meeting to be held tomorrow evening, June 3, in the club house. Moving pictures of interest will also be part of the program.

Tea hostesses for the social hour will be Mesdames William Englehart Sr., chairman; B. J. Riordan, Charles Heller and C. B. White.

Reno Magicians Baffle Meeting of Lions Club

Acts of magic performed by two Reno magicians entertained members and guests of the Lions Club last night. Leo Schmidt and A. P. Johnson, both adept in the art of proving that the hand is quicker than the eye offered an hour's entertainment which earned the praise of the audience. Guests at the meeting were Robert Johnston and Dr. L. D. Nelson.

Plans for a Ladies' Night at Beacon Hill Lodge on June 11th were completed. Stan Martin presided at the meeting and officers for the next year were nominated.

Rubber Ball Found In Stomach Of Fish Hooked By Quilici

There always has to be a first fish story each season and so this year it goes to Nat Quilici of Fontana's Laundry.

Fishing near Floriston on opening day, Nat landed a four and a half pound Loch Leven in perfect condition. He took it home and cleaned it and in its stomach was discovered a child's rubber ball over an inch in diameter, along with a couple of chubs. The trout was apparently doing all right on its unusual diet.

ACTION DUE SOON ON BOND ISSUE FOR HOSPITAL

Directors of the Tahoe Forest Hospital District will meet Monday, June 6, for a further discussion of plans relative to the proposed building of a new hospital in the Gateway Park area. T. L. Chamberlain, Auburn attorney, met with the board last week to discuss legal aspects of the program and has been retained to draw up the necessary resolutions for a bond issue to finance the district's share in the construction costs.

George Sellon, Sacramento architect, was in San Francisco this week to confer with state officials relative to an application for state and federal assistance in building the hospital. The officials have signified they look with favor upon the application which must be completed, together with plans and specifications and other data by July 1.

Because of its location and the obvious need for such an institution, the local application is expected to have considerable priority, Charles Heller, president of the board, said.

OMAR ALEXANDER IS NEXT LEADER OF 20-30 CLUB HERE

At the regular Truckee 20-30 meeting Wednesday night, officers were elected, to be installed the first meeting in July. Omar G. Alexander will be the next president, with Bob Leamon vice president, Frank Giovannoni sergeant at arms and George F. Kamp, John Street, Kenneth Foster and John Gracik as directors. It is planned to hold installation of the new officers at a ladies' night on July 9.

The club will play the Lions Club in a softball game Sunday afternoon. This game has aroused considerable interest and rivalry. The public is invited to watch the game. John Rablin, manager of the 20-30 softball team, has arranged several games with other 20-30 clubs, and it is planned to schedule games locally whenever the hardball team is away.

At the meeting Wednesday night a film on safe shooting was shown and Eugene Gini was a guest.

Good Results On Opening Day Of Fish Season Here

Warden Predicts Better Fly Fishing With Mercury Rise

The trout fishing season opened in this area Monday morning and despite the chilly, threatening weather, those who responded to the call reported average luck, although few limits were caught.

Because of the cold weather during the past several days, fly fishing was poor but grub and angle worms and salmon egg clusters were used with considerable success. Mary Zunino was among those who bagged a limit opening day with her young companion, Mary Ann Tonini. The two caught 29 trout.

Roy Waters, fishing on the Truckee River, caught a near-limit, while Art and Charles Cozzalio, fishing with Tony Ghirard at Webber Lake, had good luck and bagged near limits.

Clarence Osburn brought back a limit from Sage Hen Creek and others reported fair fishing in the streams tributary to the Truckee and in the lakes.

Frank Giovannoni took seven fish for six pounds from the river and M. L. Jennings, Southern Pacific division superintendent, reportedly got his limit.

Game Warden Tom Borneman reports that with a few warm days and nights, the insect hatch will result in improved fly fishing on the streams in this district. In the meantime good results are being obtained by deep trolling in both Tahoe and Donner where mackinaw are reported taking minnows brightened by spinners.

LAST RITES HELD SATURRDAY FOR MRS. PRESSLEIGH

Funeral services were held at the Truckee Colonial Mortuary Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Margaret May Pressleigh, 74, well known Truckee resident, who expired at a Reno hospital last Thursday following a long illness. Rev. Oscar H. Swenson officiated at the rites and interment was in the Truckee cemetery.

Mrs. Pressleigh was a native of Bellefonte, Pa., born October 15, 1875. She had lived in Truckee for several years and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Sites of this town and a grandson, Philip Ladd, who made his home with her here. Another daughter lives in New York.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the surviving relatives.

Five Minor Accidents Reported This Week

Five motor vehicle accidents, none of serious consequence, were reported by the highway patrol for the past week.

Friday night a car driven by Thomas Steed, 42, Berkeley, got out of control and was wrecked five miles east of Truckee. The driver was cited for speeding by Patrolman William Gautsche.

Saturday morning, four miles north of Tahoe City, cars driven by Russell W. Carlton, 40, Oakland, and Dale C. Thompson, 30, Reno, collided, slightly injuring F. A. Croger, a passenger in the Thompson car. Carlton was cited by Patrolman T. F. Sheehan.

Sunday morning near Rainbow, Jean Hevness, 29, San Francisco, was injured when cars driven by Alfred Dymond, 44, and Donald E. Hart, 28, both of San Francisco, collided. Dymond was cited by Patrolman George Schrom.

Harry S. Fenton, 69, was injured Monday night when his car and one driven by Don R. Smith, 29, Alameda, collided near Donner Lake.

Tuesday, Harry Forshaw, 11, and Emily Bingham, 34, Las Vegas, Nev., had minor hurts when cars operated by R. L. Bingham, 31, and Andy Wickland, 51, of Kings Beach, collided six miles east of Tahoe City. Both drivers were cited by Patrolman Sheehan.

Sun Beams

by Walter M. Barrett

About this time each year, this community is invaded by a flock of promoters with one idea —to do all the chiseling they can at the expense of the local residents. All they ask from you is an opportunity to "take a minute" of your time. They are so well trained in their chosen profession that before you can offer a protest, you have been sold. The best way to handle these people is to never let them get a start. You will find that trading with your local merchant, a man whose methods are established and guaranteed, will get you your money's worth. The transient peddler too often leaves you on the losing end of what at first appears a whale of a good deal.

Curious crowds which invariably flock about an accident victim often cause considerable embarrassment to the victim as well as difficulty to those attempting to render aid. Doctors, ambulance drivers and officers are hard pressed to do their work without interruption because of interference by the people who insist on satisfying curiosity by peering into windows, asking questions, giving advice and otherwise pestering those seeking to give aid in preventing death or eliminating suffering. It is always a good rule to stay away from scenes of this kind unless you are needed to assist.

DR. NELSON CITES RECORD SHOWING HOSPITAL NEED

Another reason why this area is in urgent need of hospital facilities was advanced by Dr. L. D. Nelson in a report to the hospital district directors last week.

In the report, Dr. Nelson pointed out that since last October he has seen an average of two patients each week with chronic diseases which should have hospitalization. There are at least 10 cases of surgery which have been postponed in that time because of lack of facilities, he said, beside more than 20 cases being sent to outside hospitals.

There were 60 fractures treated by the local doctor and numerous highway and industrial cases, which should have had hospital care were taken to Dr. Nelson. He added that there were many reasons why the district should be equipped with hospital facilities and offered any possible assistance in making the project a success.

New Telephone Books Are Being Distributed

Delivery of a new telephone directory for Truckee started yesterday, according to A. P. Leitch, manager for the Telephone Company.

The new green-covered book contains more than 42,000 alphabetical listings, an increase of 3,900 over the old issue. About 49,000 copies will be delivered in the 11 counties covered by this directory.

Leitch requested that the old directory be destroyed when the new one arrives. He also said that any customer not receiving a copy by the end of the week to call the business office and one will be furnished immediately.

Guests at the R. N. Little home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Scott of Belvedere and Mrs. Ward W. Sorrick of Berkeley.

Guests at Engleharts—

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kinner of Pasadena and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Watrous of Los Angeles were weekend guests at the Wm. Englehart Jr. home.

From South—

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Steen have recently moved to their Soda Springs property from Jackson, Miss. They are thoroughly pleased with their mountain location.

Three Critically Hurt In Crash; Driver Sought

One Man Near Death Following Car Leap From Grade

Three men are in a Reno hospital in critical condition and police are seeking the driver of the car in which they were riding when it plunged off Donner Grade at Windy Point yesterday evening.

The injured, all reported in critical condition, are Floyd E. Stokes, 38, Los Angeles, registered owner of the vehicle who has a broken neck; James T. Tanner, 44, St. Albans, N.Y., fractured skull and serious internal injuries, not expected to live, and George Mayer, 40, Dayton, Ohio, broken back.

Witnesses told State Patrolman William Gautsche, who is conducting the investigation, that the driver, a small man carrying a light overcoat, left the scene before the officer arrived. He is being sought for questioning.

According to the story related to Gautsche, the car was traveling east and just below the observation point, it left the highway and plunged 20 feet into the rocks. Tanner was pinned under the car and a tow car was required to release him. The men had been drinking, the officer was told.

Dr. L. D. Nelson was called and ordered the men rushed to the hospital by the Truckee ambulance.

Tahoe Letter

FROM SWANEE

Tahoe, May 30

Dear Tahoeites:

The Memorial Day weekend is well night over at this writing and believe it or not, we at Tahoe are surprised beyond words. Almost negligible have been accidents here over the three day holidays, so far the only accident reported in this immediate vicinity being the sideswiping of the bridge over the Truckee by a car with no one hurt. Crowds of vacationists lined the rail ot the bridge by the dam, many of them supplied with dry bread, to watch the antics of the big trout who make this safe retreat their permanent home. Literally thousands of cars from just about every state in the union formed a steady stream of traffic around the lake and aside from a few heavy showers, weather was good.

Fishing on the Truckee, which opened today, was not too good according to local reports. Only one man from this area has reported good luck and a limit of rainbow, taken within an hour and a half. He is Gerry Waters, who did a bit of fly fishing with seven other men in one pool. His largest rainbow was about two pounds and he used a Rubber Helgrontis (phonetic spelling). Only one other man of the group got a strike and he got but one fish. Other reports from stream fishermen were disappointing, due, they believed, to fast water and cool temperatures. Tahoe's weather went down to 32 this morning, according to W. A. Simmonds, Tahoe gate tender, which is a little cool for a summer day. Fred Main reports that all those who were brave enough to venture out in boats returned with good catches but the wind and rain and cold drove even the bravest to cover for short breathing spells. A Reno man on Sunday afternoon brought in a beautiful 8½ loch leven, the largest reported to date this season. My biggest thrill of the season was the photographing Sunday of a total of 34 pounds of mackinaw, the largest a 13 pounder, taken by four Sacramento men who had as their guide Waldo Gross of Lake Forest, who certainly knows where to find the big ones. The quartet was composed of Tom Arnold, who 13 pound beauty was officially weighed in by Pascal Huega's Toledo scales so that there would be no error; Eddie Ellis, Norman McGee and Frank Alameda. Arnold's prize catch was taken with a Dave Davis lure and minnow. The party had to exercise the strongest will power to stay out in the biting wind, hail and rain to bring in their big catch and all stated they would never do such a trick again as they were freezing cold and thoroughly fatigued.

Am happy to report that Rodney Yeakel of Lake Forest and his charming fiancee Betty Buchanan of Auburn have set their wedding date for June 18 with the ceremony to be held in Auburn. Rod is sporting a lovely new car in anticipation of the event. Lots of good luck to them and let's have the detail later, Rod.

Tahoe City had a bit of excitement last Wednesday night when Herman Jacobs of Sacramento arrived at his summer home just north of town to find a stranger's coat on a chair in the kitchen. Upstairs in the shower of the bathroom they found a frightened 16-year-old boy who was brought downstairs and questioned at length. The youngster is large for his age and has had a number of brushes with the juvenile authorities. He was recently sent to the correction school at Chino but made his escape. Search of the revealed he had taken nothing from the house and the constable was inclined to believe he had only broken in to find a place to sleep and something to eat. Johanson placed him the local bastile for two nights and then took him to Auburn where he was placed under the custody of Placer County Probation Officer Charles Allen. His case comes up tomorrow in the Auburn justice court.

Just received in the mail from my good friend Henry Droste, secretary of the Lake Tahoe-Sierra Association, one of the new folders being distributed throughout the nation on Lake Tahoe, and a resume of the association's program for the 1949 season. Even we who live here the year around should be thrilled by the beautiful color photos reproduced of our mountain wonderland, so we feel the tourist who has never visited California should be entranced by the newest informative folder with its large color map, masterfully executed by Gerald A. Eddy of Glendale. It is the finest and most comprehensive folder ever printed on Lake Tahoe and merits the highest compliment. If "it pays to advertise" the Truckee-Tahoe area should reap its greatest harvest during 1949.

Will ring off for the week and am truly glad that I do not have a long list of tragic accidents to report over this year's Memorial holidays. My best to all, as ever, Swanee.

TALL TALES OF '49—James W. Harris, who has spent practically all of his 80-odd years right in the little "ghost town" of Columbia, entertains 5-year-old Skipper Davis, also a Columbia resident, with tales of Columbia's greatness when, as "Gem of the Southern Mines," the then-bustling community sought to become capital of the new State of California. Hard characters such as Joaquin Murietta and Black Bart were active in Harris' childhood and youth. Skipper says he would take care of them now with his trusty six-gun. The 1949 Gold Rush Centennial is being celebrated at Columbia under auspices of the California Centennials Commission on July 15-16-17.

State's Centennial Puts Focus on Smaller Towns In Mountains

With California celebrating the one hundredeth anniversary of the discovery of her gold and parades and beards bursting out all over, the little towns and hamlets of the Mother Lode and Sierra country have been taking on an increased interest. Among the most colorful of these little settlements, according to the National Automobile Club, is Chinese Camp, located in Tuolumne County, on the Big Oak Flat Road.

It was in 1849 that a small group of Englishmen moved into the area just east of the present town, built themselves a house and hired some Chinese laborers to work the mines. Following the path of gold dust and nuggets, the group moved over to the present site within a year and as the news of the riches they were striking got around settlers began to pour in from all directions. Within a very short time the population of the town had grown to over 3,000, most of whom were Chinese.

Out of this gathering of Chinese grew one of the strangest battles in western history. It all began over at Two-Mile Bar on the Stanislaus River when a huge boulder happened to roll from one claim over to another and started a fight that rapidly drew adherents from throughout the area. Always eager for some kind of excitement, the miners decided to make a day of it. They declared a short armistice to prepare for war and the local blacksmiths sweated over their forges to beat out spears, gongs, tridents and swords for the members of the rival Tongs. Finally, on that warm summer day in 1856, some 2,000 men marched to the battlefield two miles west of Chinese Camp and fought until county officers arrived and arrested 250 ring leaders for disturbing the peace. In the fighting, four men were killed and four were wounded.

For several years, Chinese Camp boomed. The dust and nuggets continued to come in, her stores supplied the countryside for miles around, she was for some time the chief stopping place for stages rolling over the road to Yosemite Valley, and was headquarters for many stage lines and pony express riders.

When the gold went, however, the boom went too and Chinese Camp, like so many of her sister towns in the Mother Lode country, became a place of abandoned buildings and forgotten hopes.

The Oriental Tea Garden in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park is the only remaining relic of the Midwinter Fair of 1895.

Centennial Cavalcade to Leave Lake Tahoe On Saturady, June 4th

South Lake Tahoe plans to join the rest of El Dorado County in celebrating their Gold Rush Centennial Days June 4-12 with a week-long program of festivities that includes a 57 mile trek of a typical pioneer emigrant train over the old pioneer trail, starting June 4 at Stateline near Lake Tahoe and following the highway to old Hangtown at Placerville, arriving June 10 for a two day celebration and parade.

The caravan of wagons, mule packs, stage coaches and costumed rider led by members of the El Dorado County Sheriff's Posse, plus hundreds of other riders will accompany the calvacade over the mountain route of the Pony Express.

The group is scheduled to bivouac nightly at one of the old stage coach depots along the way: Al Tahoe, June 5; Meyers, June 6; Strawberry, June 7; Kyburz, June 8; Pacific House, June 9; and just east of Placerville, June 10. Entertainment at these stops will include old-fashioned dancing, mock Indian raids, barbecues and campfire singing. Motorists are invited to join the group at the nightly bivouac.

A huge parade Saturday afternoon of floats, old buggies and wagons, the Emigrant Train, Sheriff's Posse bands and other marching groups will be followed by a grand ball in the evening. A Mother Lode Horse Show starts at 10 p.m. Sunday.

SKIN LOVELINESS

Young skin stays soft and lovely, though exposed to sun and wind, because natural oil glands beneath the surface keep it lubricated.

After the teen ages, these glands begin to slow up and need help. Only liquid lanolin, highly concentrated as in Lanolin Plus, can give your skin the extra lubrication it needs. It is the closest known duplicate to natural skin oil. You'll notice an immediate improvement!

WATER WATER WATER

A Good Water System Is The Greatest Asset A Community Can Have

For over 50 years the water systems of Truckee have—like Topsy—"just growed up" without rythmn or reason.

Three systems serving a community of 1200 people tends to inefficiency and economic loss to the inhabitants.

With a view to remedying the situation the Directors of the Truckee Public Utility District has engaged an Engineer to draw up plans for improving the service to you. The carrying out of any improvement plan will require your help and consent to issue bonds to finance the work.

This is your problem and only you can help yourself.

Charles Cross Nominee To Be President of Lake Tahoe Chamber

by DOT O'BRIEN

KINGS BEACH— The Tahoe Chamber of Commerce meeting for nomination of officers for the new year was held at Tahoe Village last Thursday night.

The meeting was held in the large dining room of the resort. Tables were attractively arranged for the suffet supper following the business portion. Attended by approximately 150 Tahoe residents and businessmen, the session was opened by President A. E. Abbott of Kings Beach. A resume of activities of the chamber to date was presented by Secretary Manager Fred Perley, who cited the advantages of the united effort being made to put all of Tahoe on the map in one big program. He mentioned the increasing number of inquiries being received daily by the office as to accomodations at the lake and outlined the program necessary to bring business up to the level hoped for. He asked the group to consider a just scale of dues to be aodpted for the coming year that will enable the organization to carry out the program as outlined. The members expressed themselves in favor of the plan as recommended.

Cross Unopposed

As nominations for various offices of the chamber were called for, Charles Cross of Tahoe City was presented without opposition for president. Abbott had previously expressed his regret at being unable to accept further nomination for that office.

Walter Parman from District 1 and Louis Fitzgerald of District 2 were nominated for 1st vice president. Sam Ferris of District 1 was the only nominee for 2nd vice president. Nominations for treasurer were for Carl Byrd of District 2 and Tom Sutton and Tom Lucas both of District 4. Meeting for election of officers will be held in June.

Nominations for directors from the several post office districts were as follows:

Gene Jarvis, Crystal Bay; Kenneth Amundsen, Glenbrook; Elsworth Chappell and Sam Ferris, Zephyr Cove; Mrs. Janet Bassey, Stateline; Al Young, Bijou; Carl Byrd and Harold Martin, Al Tahoe; E. R. Smith, Tahoe Valley; Norman Celio, Meyers; Chick Arntzen, Camp Richardson; Jess Finley, Fallen Leaf; Fred Cunningham, Homewood; C. W. Vernon, Tahoe City; Bob Snyder, Lake Forest; A. J. Ketman, Carnelian Bay; Bill Bates, Tahoe Vista; H. E. Brooks, Kings Beach and Bill Wiseman, Brockway.

Entertainment Program

After the business meeting, the group was entertained with a delightful program. Mrs. Jessie Royston sang a new ballad entitled "Spring at Lake Tahoe." The Lions Club quartet of Reno entertained with several beautiful arrangements for male voices, including the number that won the national championship for them last year and the one they hope will give them the title again this year. After the meeting, Walter Parman, owner-manager of Tahoe Village and host of the evening, served a buffet supper of sandwiches, coffee and salad.

Tahoe Regatta Plans Luncheon Topic at Palace Hotel in S. F.

R. Stanley Dollar Jr., commodore of the Tahoe Yacht Club, will give a luncheon for the club members at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco Thursday, June 2, at noon.

This meeting is called in order to make plans for the Regatta to be held at Lake Tahoe on Sunday, July 10. Since Commodore Dollar will be in Detroit at the time racing his all aluminum, streamlined hydroplane Skip-A-Long of California in the races there, Vice Commodore Carl Bechdolt Jr. will take over the commodore's duties at Lake Tahoe.

Dollar holds the distinction of having won the Tahoe Championship more times than any other person racing there. In addition to his first victory in 1930, when he was only 15 years old, he won it in 1931, 1933, 1934, 1936, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1947 and 1948. Of these ten wins, eight of them were made with his speedboat, Baby Skipalong.

Feeling that the name brings him luck, in 1948 when Dollar built his new boat he christened it Skip-A-Long. The speedboat has been rebuilt for the 1949 races and its native state added to the name.

Now known as Skip-A-Long of California, Commodore Dollar, racing under the colors of the Tahoe Yacht Club, will this year participate in such famous races at Detroit as the Gold Cup, Ford Memorial Trophy and Silver Cup. He also hopes to win a place on the American team defending the famous International Harmsworth Trophy against the challenges of Italy and Canada.

Recent Wrecks Involve Heavy Vehicles

A number of passengers suffered injuries on the morning of May 19 when a Greyhound bus skidded on the Kingvale grade and ran into an embankment. The driver, Clarence Myers of Reno, said he applied his brakes in order to avoid hitting another machine. Nine were injured and taken to Colfax for treatment.

A Lang Transportation Company truck and trailer were wrecked a mile east of Truckee the same day when the trailer skidded after the driver, Leroy J. Serpa, 40, North Sacramento, applied the brakes in order to avoid striking a group of stalled cars and trucks. The trailer overturned but the driver was not hurt.

First Train to Truckee Arrived April, 1868 Record Writer Says

In a feature article in his Colfax Record, Allen G. Thurman recently described the building of the Central Pacific, 1864-69. A considerable portion of the piece told of the herculean task of pushing the steel over Donner Summit and through the Truckee Canyon. We reprint that portion which is of especial interest locally:

"It was above Colfax that workers were lowered in "bosun's chairs" over the cliffs at Cape Horn to cut a grade for the tracks, while suspended 2500 feet above the American River. Dutch Flat was reached in July, 1866, and by October the railhead was at Cisco, only 12 miles from the summit. But these 12 miles were through granite so hard that the explosives often shot out of the hole like a charge from a gun without so much as cracking the rock. Winter again descended on the Sierra and all work was stopped except in the summit tunnel.

"Time was pressing. While snows held the Central Pacific at bay in the Sierra, the Union Pacific.....was rapidly moving westward across Nebraska. Something had to be done or the rival road would reach the California state line before the Central Pacific had even conquered the Sierra.

"Once again Charles Crocker—one of the so-called Big Four, builders of the Central Pacific—and superintendent of construction for the railroad, rose to the occasion. Over 28 miles of tortuous mountain trail, leading from near the summit eastward, he directed the hauling and sledging of three locomotives, 40 cars and materials for 40 miles of track down into Truckee River Canyon where light snowfall made grading and track work possible. It was a tremendous and strategic undertaking, and made full use of all forces not engaged in tunnel work in the Sierra.

"Not before June of the following year, 1867, could the forces at Truckee be brought back into the mountains, where the grade was still below ten and twelve feet of snow. By midsummer the first locomotive had crossed the divide and in November the line was opened to Summit at an elevation of 7,000 feet. Heavy snows again forced the transfer of construction work to the Truckee region where such good progress had been made that on December 13 the first locomotive pushed its nose over the state line into Nevada. By the end of the year there was only a seven mile gape of difficult construction on the ridges above Donner Lake to be completed before the Truckee work could be used as part of the through line.

"The difficulties experienced in keeping the road clear of snow during the winter of 1866-67 presented a problem that had to be overcome before trains could be successfully operated. The answer came in the decision to build snowsheds over the tracks. Contruction of these was begun in the spring of 1868 and was completed in the fall of 1869. The expense involved was appalling, for it meant the use of 2500 men on the job itself and in the sawmills which were established to cut timber needed for the project. More than 65,000,000 feet of lumber was used and the total cost about $2,000,000, a staggering sum for those days.

"The year 1868 ushered in a campaign of feverish activity with General Superintendent Crocker announcing a construction program of a mile of track every working day. The race with the Union Pacific was on in earnest. Track was laid above Donner in the early spring and on April 3, 1868, the first train was operated into Truckee. The Sierra was now at the builders' backs. On June 19, operations were begun to the little settlement of Reno, which townsite had been staked out by the Central Pacific surveyors."

The article concluded with a description of the joining of the CP and UP railroads at Promontory Point, Utah, April 28, 1869.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rauh of the Chapel of St. Nicholas were pleased to note their largest attendance for the year on last Sunday. Rauh, a lay reader, chose Memorial Day as the topic of his sermon.

Up in Timberland the Dr. Lee Hands of San Francisco have started their round of summer entertaining with Memorial Day weekend guests including Mr. and Mrs. P. Morin and Dr. and Mrs. Mark Hand of San Francisco.

At the summer home of Superior Judge and Mrs. Chester C. McDonald of Woodland in Timberland their son Douglas and his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Scarlett, all of Woodland, enjoyed the holiday weekend, leaving for home Sunday. The senior McDonalds are expected in for the summer early in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dewhurst of Ward Creek spent the weekend in Sacramento where they were guests at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerkin. The quartet fished at Rio Vista but without much success.

Auto Insurance Rates Are Cut on June 1, R. N. Little Reveals

A reduction averaging 10 per cent on rates for property damage and public liability insurance on passenger car in northern California went into effect last week.

R. N. Little, local insurance man, said the reduction was in conformity with a countrywide program to bring about a realignment of rates by states and by territories within states in accordance with the most recent available experience.

The new rates are retroactive to April 1, Little said.

Wright Wins Fight for Floriston Insurance

RENO— Preston Wright, developer and still owner of much of Floriston, won his suit to collect the insurance on one of the Floriston houses that burned last February.

Wright had sold the house to James Lyons in return for a $4900 promissory note on September 8 and Lyons insured it. When the house burned down on February 21, the companies holding the policies withheld payment until they determined who should get the money.

The case was tried last week before Judge A. J. Maestretti in Reno district court, and he ruled that Wright should have the $4883.12 called for under the insurance in addition to $43.30 for court costs.

North Tahoe

by DOT O'BRIEN

It actually takes a few days away from the lake now and then to make us appreciate our wonderful enviornment. I had forgotten there were so many cars in existence. Enjoyed my vacation, came back with all of my fenders intact but I'm very glad that I can live at Tahoe.

Got back just in time to help dish up that delightful repast of corn at the meeting of the Women's Club last Friday evening. Reminiescent of the days of about 1924, the gals in the program had as much fun as their sister club members in the audience. Old trunks were ransacked for suitable garb, the trunk of Nina Sorensen presenting the most interesting array. Delving to the depths uncovered surprises that were priceless. These mere displayed during the program by Mildred Burch, whose finesse was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. "By the Sea" in bathing costumes of the era were Jean Little and Camilla Althof. A sextet assisted by soloist Helen Stokes and dressed in what was then the extreme of fashion presented music "simply out of this world". Vocalists were Peg Mandeville, Mildred Burch, Clara Van Hooser, Alice Davis, Florence Miles and Dot O'Brien. Accompanying at the piano was Ruth Mizner whose timely musical interludes were appreciated by all. The meeting was well attended. Business was conducted by President Alice Sorensen. Plans were made for gifts to be presented at the close of the school term to graduates and outgoing teachers. The women also voted to sponsor a Girl Scout troop in this area. Refreshments were served by Edna Fields, Dot English and Rose Baker.

Every time we plan a picnic something happens to the nice weather we have ordered. Cold winds and rain drove us all indoors for the fish fry Sunday. However, the men set up a temporary stove at the last minute and the picnic went ahead, weather or no. Boxing matches were held in the afternoon, junior local talent competing with YM CA members from Reno. An excellent tumbling exhibition was put on by junior Y mebers. The entertainment ended with a ball game between the teams of Bud O'Donnell and Tom Lucas. Bud's team won with a score of 19 over Tom's 17.

Word has been received that the Tahoe Gun Club has been successful in leasing a site north of Tahoe Vista and the erection of traps on the new location will begin at once. With interest remaining high even though members are engaged in summer business, the gun club promises to be one of our most successful organizations.

Thursday, June 2, the missionary project of the local WSCS will get underway at the home of Mrs. Jessie Royston. Ladies will meet to wash, mend, press and pack boxes of clothing to be sent to missions here and abroad. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. and will continue until 4 p.m. with a pot luck lunch served at noon. Anyone with clothing to be presented to this cause may call Brockway 289M. Women of the community were asked to bring an apron pattern and their suggestions for inscriptions to be used at the Tahoe Souvenir Apron Sale.

Mizner's Stop and Shop have opened up a new grocery and meat store in the Ta-Neva-Ho building at Crystal Bay, Nevada.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laraldi left the Lake Tuesday to begin their long planned vacation. Laraldi, who has operated the Peavine Transfer at the lake for several years, has recently sold his business and he and his wife are sailing for Europe this week. They plan on being away until the middle of September. Their summer home at the lake is being leased for the season.

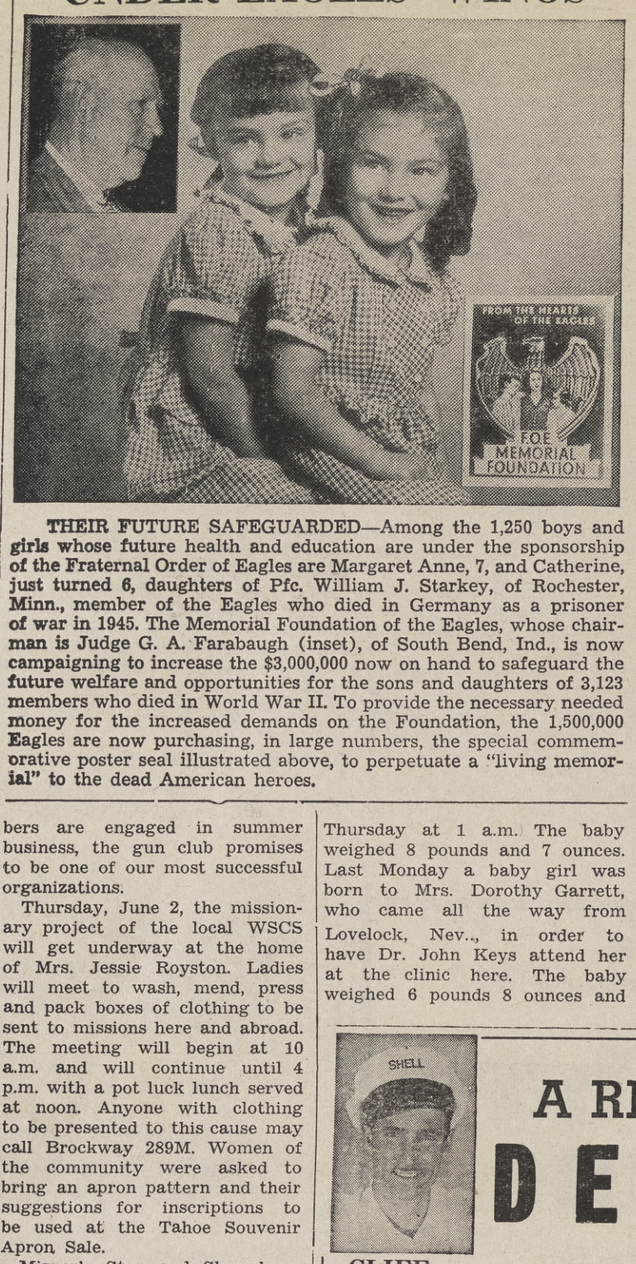
Helen and Art Buehler and their daughter Vicki visited with the Meisenheimers over the past weekend.

Sixteen guests were entertained at the home of A. E. Sorensen over the weekend holiday. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Pluth and their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carbone, all of Napa; and the Charlie Sorensens of Hayward, not related but old friends and school mates of both Andy and Carl.

Mrs. Mary Soper and two sons, Harry and Charles, of Sacramento, visited with her parents the Harry Masons of Tahoe Vista. The Masons have recently sold their cottages to Mr. and Mrs. Al Bettancourt who plan extensive improvements on the property, including cottages on the lake front. The Bettancourts are from Gilroy and operate two grocery stores in that area.

The Tahoe Vista Clinic has been busy during the past week. Mrs. Grace Sartor of Homewood gave birth to a baby girl last Thursday at 1 a.m. The baby weighed 8 pounds and 7 ounces. Last Monday a baby girl was born to Mrs. Dorothy Garrett, who came all the way from Lovelock, Nev.., in order to have Dr. John Keys attend her at the clinic here. The baby weighed 6 pounds 8 ounces and was named Pamela. Mrs. Garrett remained at the clinic for one week before returning to her home at Lovelock.

UNDER EAGLES' WINGS



THEIR FUTURE SAFEGUARDED—Among the 1,250 boys and girls whose future health and education are under the sponsorship of the Fraternal Order of Eagles are Margaret Anne, 7, and Catherine, just turned 6, daughters of Pfc. William J. Starkey, of Rochester, Minn., member of the Eagles who died in Germany as a prisoner of war in 1945. The Memorial Foundation of the Eagles, whose chairman is Judge G. A. Farabaugh (inset), of South Bend, Ind., is now campaigning to increase the $3,000,000 now on hand to safeguard the future welfare and opportunities for the sons and daughters of 3,123 members who died in World War II. To provide the necessary needed money for the increased demands on the Foundation, the 1,500,000 Eagles are now purchasing, in large numbers, the special commemorative poster seal illustrated above, to perpetuate a "living memorial" to the dead American heroes.

Tahoe-Sierra Association Launches Huge Campaign to Boost Lake

TAHOE— The Lake Tahoe-Sierra Association has planned an extensive advertising program for 1949 which includes displays on 35 10x24 feet billboards for April, May and June in California and June, July, August and September in Nevada. They will be located on U.S. highways approaching such cities as Pasadena, Long Beach, Beverly Hills, Hollywood, Oakland, Berkeley, San Francisco, Fresno, Bakersfield, Stockton and other key California cities and five of the boards will be placed on U. S. Highways 40 and 395 in Nevada.

Metropolitan newspapers and magazines are now running advertising and will continue during May and June, according to Henry F. Droste, secretary of the association.

A completely new folder with a large four color map of Lake Tahoe, beautiful color photos of points around the lake and complete resort and travel information is just off the press and 50,000 of them are now being distributed through travel bureaus, automobile clubs, chambers of commerce, etc., throughout the nation. This folder, which is distributed annually by the Lake Tahoe-Sierra Association, has been a big factor in placing Lake Tahoe in the forefront of recreational areas in this country and due credit is given by the association to the Tahoe-Sierra business people and resort owners for their continued cooperation and financial support.

The association is not affiliated in any way with any other organization in the Tahoe region and except for operation costs, all contributions are spent on advertising the Lake Tahoe area as an outstanding recreational area.

Floriston

by C. A. FELESINA

FLORISTON— Weekend visitors at the H. C. Savage home were Mr. and Mrs. John Northrup of Hawthorne, Nev., and son Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. David O'Connor and daughter of Virginia City, Nev. Mrs. Dorothy Rosendahl of Whittemore, Iowa, is also visiting the Savages' for a few days. All are former residents of Floriston.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Craig have as their guests for the week Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell of Bakersfield who are hoping to get in some good fishing while here.

New residents of Floriston are Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Heath and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCurdy and family. The Heaths are formerly of Reno and the McCurdys are from Sacramento.

Mrs. Marjorie D. Thies has returned to her home in San Francisco after spending ten days here.

Return to Tahoe—

Dr. and Mrs. William H. Mayhew of Oakland have returned to their resort near Tahoe City.

Helicopter Valuable In Forest Service Job Of Reseeding "Burns"

Amid national excitement over faster-than-sound airplanes, guided missiles, space ships and such aviation marvels, the comparatively diminutive helicopter goes steadily winning honors in a workaday world. Previously used with success for forest surveys, in fire control and sowing tree seeds from the air, a small, open cockpit helicopter is reported by the Forest Service in the U. S. Department of Agriculture to have proved a very efficient device for reseeding rocky, fire-denuded watersheds in the mountains of southern California.

Because of the steep slopes, the loose and readily eroded soils and frequent heavy rains there, together with wild fire damage to native grasses, weeds and brush, flash floods sooner or later carry tons of debris down into valley areas. Fields, orchards, orange groves and other properties are spread with eroded soil and rocks after these floods. Reservoirs are often partly filled with debris, irrigation systems and bridges wrecked, roads and railroads washed out. Southern California has around 11,000,000 acres of mountainous land with the fertile valley farms valued as high as $5,000 an acre and where this fire and flood pattern is an ever present menace.

Since 1932 the Forest Service has been sowing common mustard seed on burned over watersheds as the best method of quickly restoring the protective cover and thus reducing the danger of these rock-toting floods.

Mustard is used because of the comparative quickness with which it sprouts and sends up its yellow flowered plants. Sown in the ashes of the fires, where possible, as soon as they cool off, under favorable conditions, mustard plant comes up within three or four days. The ashes form a cover which anchors the seed against the wind thus giving it a quick start. The seed has a better chance because the fire has driven off the birds and rodents that otherwise might get it. Once up, the mustard holds the soil against the rains until nature has time to bring back the slower-growing native grass and brush. Finally the latter not only takes over the soil holding job but in three or four years crowds out the mustard.

The first mustard sowing was by hand. Though this method results in uniform sowing with good seed distribution, it is costly and slow. Seeding 1,000 acres might take a 12-man crew ten days and cost at present price levels around $3,000. Seeding from airplanes was tried next. By this means the same job was done in hours instead of days at half the cost—but there were serious drawbacks. Seed distribution was not good, because of areas along steep slopes or canyon walls where the fast, straight-flying planes could not get close enough for the purpose. Since a forced landing on the rocky ground was almost sure to result in disaster, a big hazard to life and plane haunted the operators. Moreover, an elaborate system of markers and signalmen on the ground was required to keep the pilot on his course, advise him of too light or too heavy seed discharge or of missed areas.

Seeking means to combine the thoroughness of seeding by the ground crewt with the speed and low cost of airplane operations, the foresters turned recently to the helicopter. Admittedly, the rotary-wing machines now available for ordinary peace time use are of limited carrying capacity and there was doubt of their ability to carry pay loads over 4,000 or 5,000 foot altitudes in southern California. First trials were made on the Angeles National Forest, not far from the city of Los Angeles, on which summer fires had burned a particularly rocky watershed so that mustard was required in a dozen separate areas. The total area in need of sowing was 1,045 acres and it was in 12 parcels ranging in size from 23 to 227 acres.

The helicorter came through with flying colors. Test flights were made, in which freshly varnished squares of waxed paper were laid 10 feet apart on the ground, across the direction of flight, to determine the most efficient pattern of operation. This was foond to be a flying speed of 30 miles an hour at about 50 feet above the ground, with the rate of seed flow from the special distributing mechanism in the cockpit and the rate of discharge regulated by an electric switch on the pilot's control stick. The waxed papers showed that under this arrangement the helicopter would seed satisfactorily a swath 60 feet wide.

The helicopter seeded the 1045 acres in eight and a half flying hours. The cost was about two cents an acre more than that of seeding by regular airplane but the thoroughness and uniformity of the sowing was equal to the most careful seeding by ground crews.

Nor was this all from the foresters' standpoint. Since the pilot, who was alone in the plane on flights, could cruise slowly above the burn, hover motionless in mid-air for observation of his progress, and alight at many points for ground checks and directions, the need for ground signalmen, markers and radio communication was eliminated. No special preparation for landing spots were necessary, a space among the buildings of an old CCC camp serving as a base for part of the job and a wide space in a canyon bottom for the rest. Danger of a crash landing in the rocks due to engine trouble or other mishap was materially lessened by the helicopter's ability to land without power, its rotors rotating freely, acting much as a parachute.

Due to its easy maneuverability the little helicopter was able to nose in and out of canyons and close to steep slopes. Though the pay load was limited to 300 pounds—enough to seed about 100 acres—this proved no handicap because of the machine's ability to take off and land on the edge of the working area rather than make the comparatively long trips to and from a prepared airfield. Early misgivings as to the helicopter being able to negotiate the high mountains proved groundless in this area and indeed on a still afternoon the little machine flew with ease over a 5400 foot peak with a load of 280 pounds of seed. It was also able to operate under clouds so low that they would have grounded an airplane.

Foresters who witnessed the mustard seeding on the Angeles National Forest predict rapid expansion in the use of the helicopter in the work of the Forest Service. They said the low-cost efficiency of the machine in the seeding of rocky, mountainous areas for which use of the regular type airplane is impracticable would be a great new help in the job of protecting the valley prop-from the debris-laden flood water that so frequently follow the burning of the cover on the watersheds. Emergency helicopter sowing of rye and other grasses, rather than mustard, in lately burned areas, in an effort to find vegetation that will sprout as quickly but not die out as soon, already have been made. They promise to make the role of the rotary-winged flyer even more valuable in this work.

Truckee River Highway Has 23rd Anniversary This Week Files Show

Twenty three years ago this week, Governor Friend W. Richardson and Harvey . Toy, the chairman of the state highway commission, were in Truckee to officially dedicate the new Truckee River Highway.

The account in the Truckee Republican of June 3, 1926, stated: "Now, eighty years after the Donner tragedy, the Dog Valley Summit has been eliminated for ever by the road through the canyon and the Donner grade is crossed by a wide smooth highway on easy grades that most cars take in high gear."

The newspaper devoted its entire front page to the occasion, giving historical background and pictures of men prominent in promoting the highway, including the late Wally Gelatt of Donner Lake, the late Dan D. Smith of Truckee and C. B. White, retired manager of the Truckee Bank of America branch.

The same issue noted the start of work by the Isbell Brothers on the Lake Tahoe-Truckee highway. The story noted the road was being built by forest service funds but on a state route and would be taken over by the state for maintenance upon completion.

Incidentally, Cecil Edmunds, now manager of the Truckee Public Utility District, was then publisher of the Truckee Republican.

Society Would Mark Historic Spots Here

Robert Paine, director of the Nevada County Historical Society this week made an appeal to local residents to communicate with Elmer Stevens, president of the society, relative to installing historical markers in this area. He said 78 markers have been erected in the Nevada City-Grass Valley area and the society, a non-profit organization, is desirous of extending this service to Truckee and vicinity in a county-wide program.

The society is now in its third year of activity, Paine said.

Marie Henry Reveals Ear Test Results

TAHOE— Mrs. Marie Henry, member of the Placer County board of health from Tahoe, this week has a report from Mrs. Florence Nelson, county health nurse, on the hearing survey tests made in Placer Union High School and College.

The survey was begun after Easter vacation and revealed the following results: Out of 199 college men examined, 53 were found to have had hearing losses a percentage of 26.6. Out of 80 college women tested 5 were found to have had hearing losses, only 6.25 percent. Out of 431 high school boys testsed, 45 had hearing losses, or 10.4 per cent. Of 407 high school girls tested only nine were found to have hearing losses, or a mere 2.2 per cent. The total number tested was 1117, of which 112 or about 10 per cent, had hearing losses.

The follow up phase of the program has been started and will be completed before schools close. Parents of high school students will be informed as to the hearing losses and advised to take the children to an ear specialist for further examination and treatment if needed. In the fall another audio meter test will be given each child to determine if improvement has been made, this being a vital step for those with defective hearing.

Polio on Upsurge In California This Year

SACRAMENTO —(W. N. S.)— Infantile paralysis rose sharply throughout California during the week ending May 21, the state department of health reporting 12 new cases in comparison to nine the week before.

Polio cases so far this year total 389, far above normal and for the first three months totaled 321 which compared with 44 for the initial quarter in 1948 and a five-year average of 65.

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

THE BREEZE BROUGHT NO WARNING TO TARZAN'S NOSTRILS AS HE ENTERED THE FOREST; HIS VIGILANCE RELAXED. SUDDENLY, WITHOUT WARNING, A CROWD OF HUGE, APE-LIKE CREATURES DROPPED FROM THE TREES AND SWARMED OVER HIM. THE SAVAGE GROWLS OF THE MAN MINGLED WITH THE ROARS OF THE TREE-MEN AS THEY FOUGHT DESPERATELY. TARZAN ATTACKED WITH THE STRENGTH OF NUMA THE LION--BUT FINALLY WAS BROUGHT DOWN.
